Something to Chew On

February 26th, Noon
BPSC Room 3.101

The Office of Multicultural Affairs brings the discussion to you with its new event series called "Something to Chew On". SFA students, faculty/staff and community members are encouraged to join in this open dialogue and participate in interactive activities as it focuses on topics that concern the community. Snacks and door prizes will be provided. This event will last until 1:30 pm. Fell free to come anytime before then to participate.
Vanessa Hunyh

Senior Nutrition and Dietetics Major

This month's staff spotlight is Vanessa Hunyh. She excelled this past semester and at the beginning of the spring. She designs and creates all of our office window displays to fit the theme of the month, and partners with the other ambassadors and assistants to put on great events. Her brave space dove into the intricacies of living a biracial life, and challenged the audience's perspective on the topic. We can't wait to see what she brings to the OMA this semester!

Men of Achievement

Endorsed Organization

We want to recognize MOA for their hardwork and willingness to serve. An organization founded on brotherhood and fellowship, they made sure to uphold these values by being the first people to volunteer to help out at any OMA event. They also put on their flagship event, the MOA Cumbo. They served endless gumbo and provided entertainment for the evening. Be sure to congratulate these men for their hard work and achievements.
