

Public Health

Original Implementation: February 29, 1988

Last Revision: July 21, 2020

Stephen F. Austin State University recognizes an obligation to promote public health on campus by taking action to protect students, faculty, and staff from the spread of contagious and infectious diseases. An effective and responsible approach to safeguarding public health on campus requires that legitimate concerns about the potential for transmission of diseases in university settings neither be sensationalized nor minimized, but that university officials work closely with other interested parties to establish policies and procedures that inhibit the likelihood of contagion while promoting an educational environment characterized by safety, continuity, and calm.

When circumstances arise that require review, the vice president for university affairs will convene a Public/Student Health Committee, consisting of appropriate faculty and staff members. This committee will assist the vice president in coordinating the university's efforts to fulfill its responsibility concerning public health. In carrying out its tasks, the committee will review the guidelines of recognized authorities including the National Centers for Disease Control and the Texas Department of Health Services.

Based on the severity of the public health issue being addressed, the Public Health Committee may make recommendations to the president that certain policies be initiated, suspended or modified on an emergency basis as needed.

In the event of public inquiry concerning university policy on public health or health-related matters at SFA, the executive director of university marketing communications, or their designee, will serve as the official spokesperson for the university. Medical records of individuals shall remain confidential, but public information will be disclosed upon request in accordance with the Texas Public Information Act and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Requests for such information should be referred to the university's general counsel.

If a public health issue arises that could involve the continuity of business and academic functions of the university, other ad hoc committees may be impaneled as needed to address those particular issues.
