Student Internships

Original Implementation: July 29, 2014
Last Revision: None

This policy describes the process to determine whether student internships at SFA must be paid or unpaid. The Fair Labor Standards Act defines the term “employ” very broadly as including “to suffer or permit to work.” Those who are “suffered or permitted” to work must be compensated under the law for the services they perform. If the test below is not met, the individual is required to be paid at least the minimum wage and overtime compensation for hours worked over forty in a work week.

Definition

There are some circumstances under which a student who participates in an internship or training program may do so without compensation. The determination of whether an internship or training program meets this exemption from pay depends upon all the facts and circumstances of each such program. The following six criteria must be applied when making this determination:

- The student internship, even though it includes actual operation of the facilities, is similar to training which would be given in an educational environment;
- The internship experience is for the benefit of the intern;
- The intern does not displace regular employees, but works under close supervision of existing staff;
- The employer that provides the training derives no immediate advantage from the activities of the intern; and on occasion its operations may actually be impeded;
- The intern is not necessarily entitled to a job at the conclusion of the internship; and
- The employer and the intern understand that the intern is not entitled to wages for the time spent in the internship.

If all the factors listed above are met, an employment relationship does not exist under the FLSA, and the minimum wage and overtime rules do not apply to the intern. The intern may be unpaid.

There are, however, advantages for providing compensation to the interns, such as:

- Being able to attract skilled interns;
- Increasing intern commitment and reward for contribution;
- Reducing financial burdens that may require a student to work a second job during their internship (or limit internship opportunities to only those students who can afford them);

Placement
Departments wishing to place a student intern must follow the procedures provided by the Department of Human Resources.

Policy Compliance

Consistent with SFA’s policy on non-discrimination, university employees shall not illegally discriminate against interns on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, disability, genetic information, citizenship, and veteran status. Once selected for an internship at SFA, the intern will be required to submit to a criminal history check and complete any position specific training. Paid interns will complete appropriate new employee paperwork, and comply with appropriate procedures required by the Department of Human Resources.

Placement of Relatives

An intern cannot be supervised by a relative, nor can such a member make decisions about a placement or the terms and conditions of the placement (See policy 11.16, Nepotism).

Safety Evaluations

Any intern placement at SFA that requires services to be performed in a lab, health care facility, or any other setting where the intern may be exposed to hazardous materials, machinery, or health-related situations must be evaluated and approved by the director of environmental health, safety, and risk management, or their designee, prior to the commencement of the intern services. In such cases, safety training must be completed prior to the initiation of any activities with potential for hazardous materials exposure. Any plan or guidelines developed by the Department of Environmental Health, Safety, and Risk Management must be implemented and followed or the intern situation must terminate.

Issues for International Students

International students seeking an internship need to obtain work authorization for paid internships, as well as any unpaid internships that do not qualify under the U.S. Department of Labor guidelines. Failure to do so could jeopardize a student’s visa status. Departments selecting an international student should check with the Department of International Programs before pursuing any internship for an international student to be sure of what authorization will be required.

Responsibilities and Rights

Interns shall abide by all university policies and external laws and regulations that govern their actions including, but not limited to, those relating to ethical behavior, safety, confidentiality, protected health and student information, computer use, financial responsibility, and drug use.

Prohibited Activities
Interns are prohibited from performing any of the following activities in the course and scope of their authorized activities:

- Operating heavy equipment;
- Operating university or state-owned vehicles (including golf carts) except with the express written permission of a university official;
- Working with hazardous materials, including stored energy (e.g. steam, electricity, hydraulics) prior to completing appropriate training from the Department of Environmental Health, Safety, and Risk Management; and
- Acting as a representative of the university, including but not limited to entering into any contract on behalf of the university, making public statements on behalf of the university, or incurring financial obligations.

Liability and Indemnification

Interns are required to execute the intern release form or other form approved by the general counsel prior to the start of their internship. If the university intern is a minor, the form must be signed by a parent or legal guardian.

Interns at SFA are not covered under the university’s workers’ compensation insurance program and are encouraged to secure a personal health insurance policy.

Termination

An intern’s service may be terminated at any time and without prior notice.
