Section I

A. Introduction

It is the responsibility of each academic unit of the university to maintain a current curriculum for the disciplines it represents. Academic departments must engage in continuous review of its curricula. To reach this goal, each academic department will verify this objective by conducting a formal review of curricula every three to five years. A schedule proposed by the dean and department/school (hereafter referred to as department) chairs/directors (hereafter referred to as chair) within each college and approved by the provost will set time lines for the process.

B. Curriculum Modification Procedures

When modifications to a curriculum are necessary or a new course creation is needed, proposals for change of either type need to proceed according to the steps outlined in Section II of this policy. The proposal will be in writing. Forms for this purpose are available on the Provost's web site linked below. When proposing changes to the curriculum, the originating department will submit its proposal (with the appropriate approval forms) according to the steps outlined in Section II of this policy. Curricular modifications that must follow the approval process include:

- New Courses
- Modified courses
- New programs (degrees, endorsements, certificates)
- Modified programs (degrees, endorsements, certificates)
- Deletion of courses and/or programs (degrees, endorsements, certificates)
- Changes in mode of delivery such as off-campus face to face, online instruction, and other distance delivery methods

Forms for this purpose are available on the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs web site.

C. Substantive Change
Any curricular changes that involve "substantive change" as defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges must be communicated to the appropriate entity and, if necessary under the rules of the entity, be approved before implementation. For further information see University Policy 70: Substantive Change.

SACS requires notification at least six months in advance and prior approval when offering 50% or more of the coursework required for program completion online, off-campus, or through distance education. Also, SACS requires notification, including submission of a prospectus, and approval six to 12 months before certain changes are initiated such as new degree programs that are a significant departure from current degree program offerings.

When preparing and reviewing course and program proposals that may involve a substantive change, proposal sponsors (i.e., faculty) and curriculum committees must follow and document adherence to curriculum review and approval policies and processes described in University Policy A-4: Academic Curricula Review and Approval. In addition, academic units proposing a new program or requesting approval for changes falling under the THECB or SACS definitions for substantive or organizational changes must prepare a prospectus in accordance with the requirements outlined in the SACS Substantive Change Policy and the THECB substantive change guidelines. The SACS prospectus and/or THECB proposal must accompany the Curriculum Change Request.

The Office of the Provost is responsible for conducting an ongoing review of curricular revisions to identify changes that may be substantive in nature and may require reporting or prior approval by THECB and/or SACS. The Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs will make the final determination of changes that are substantive in nature and will initiate appropriate reporting and approval processes in compliance with THECB and SACS policies and procedures.
