Programs that have been approved within the past two years and are being "re-proposed" do not need full formal approval, unit and school/college approval is sufficient if they meet the following conditions:

- At least one of the faculty leaders or associate leaders has been involved in all aspects of proposing, planning, and executing the program previously.
- Program itinerary has not changed substantially (small changes in the itinerary are permissible but any major changes - i.e., visiting new regions/environments - may need to be submitted again).
- Program syllabus has not changed substantially (i.e., new assessments, new academic focus or outcomes).
- Amount of faculty traveled expenses passed on to students as part of the student program fee has not changed.

IMPORTANT NOTES

1. To maximize university resources and provide affordable programs for SFA students, our target enrollment for all programs is 15 – 20 students.

2. All participants in any of the faculty-led programs must be enrolled in the course(s) taught in the program.

3. Student eligibility is up to the discretion of the faculty member. Faculty have the ability to determine if a student can still participate on the program even if the basic eligibility requirements are not met. Furthermore, a faculty member has the discretion to determine if a student is not qualified to participate based on academic and disciplinary history.

4. Programs must be designed to breakeven with a slight overage to account for unexpected fluctuations or events. Program surplus and deficits will be shared equally by International Programs and the sponsoring academic unit.

5. One of the top barriers to student participation in study abroad is cost. For several reasons, faculty-led programs appeal to a population of students who otherwise might not consider studying abroad. In order to minimize the financial barriers for our students, it is key to keep costs for students as affordable as possible while administering programs that are financially viable. The program fee is determined based on projected enrollment and costs.

6. Please keep in mind that salaries for academic appointments (faculty leaders and GAs) are not funded by program budgets; they are funded by the academic department.

7. Proposed programs should not be advertised via flyers or websites until approval of the program is complete. A Faculty-Led Study Abroad program should be referred to as a program and not a trip.

8. Faculty are not authorized to sign any contracts with any vendors or service providers. OIP will handle the contract approval process once the program proposal receives final approval.

9. The program page, program application, student forms and $75 application fee and program deposit payment forms are hosted in Via TRM. Students are able to make their payments online (2.5% fees apply).

10. Program fee balances will be posted on the student account when the student registers for the program course. Please keep in mind the following: (1) program fees cannot be adjusted once they are posted. (2) program fees can’t be posted at any time, we need to follow the Business Office deadlines. (3) we only post program fees once the program has reached the minimum number of students that have paid the program deposit (not that they have applied/committed to the program), therefore we need to be cautious about the Business Office deadlines.

11. Any departmental contributions to programs must be committed before the program fee is posted to student accounts, as program fees cannot be adjusted once they are posted. Contributions from academic units, colleges, or outside sources will not be handled by the Office of International Programs.

12. OIP will estimate the number and dollar amount of study abroad scholarships based on the proposals received by April 1st.
