

COUNSELING CLINIC

The Counseling Clinic at Stephen F. Austin State University is a training clinic where graduate students who are in the practicum and internship portion of their education provide counseling services to community members and students under the supervision of licensed counselor education faculty members.

Counseling Services

- Career Planning and Development
- Group
- Couples
- Individual
- Family
- Parent and Child

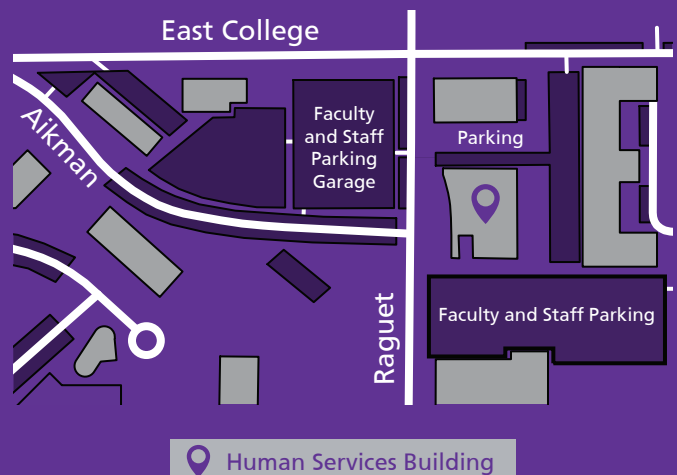

We also offer customized organizational trainings and educational presentations.

Counseling issues: Anger management, anxiety, career counseling, depression, divorce, employment-seeking skills, grief, life adjustments (for example, homesickness), marriage counseling, parenting, problem-solving, social skills, stress management, substance abuse, test anxiety, time management and other personal issues.

Appointments: Walk-ins are welcome, and appointments are available. Call (936) 468-1041 for appointments.

Fees: The first five sessions are free for students and community members. Starting with the sixth visit, we determine costs for community members using a variable fee scale based on gross family income and family size ($5 to $20 maximum per service). SFA students pay $5 per service.

Hours: Monday-Thursday, 11 a.m.-9 p.m.

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN
STATE UNIVERSITY
Department of Human Services and Educational Leadership

Stephen F. Austin State University Counseling Clinic

Human Services Building
2100 N. Raguet St., Room 202 | Nacogdoches, TX 75962

Phone: (936) 468-1041 | Web: sfasu.edu/humanservices/139.asp